Have You Made Reservations For The Longtimers Breakfast Sunday?

The cast on stage at the Forest Theater Sunday morning will be members of this community who have picked up their mail at the Carmel post office for 20 years or longer. The occasion will be the Longtimers Breakfast for which reservations should be made by noon tomorrow, otherwise those coming to the city's 50th anniversary party will become breakfastless members of an audience.

Directing the action, which starts at 10 a.m., will be Ted Durein, master of ceremonies. Joe Broadman will sing the Abalone Song and a ballad about Aimee Semple McPherson's mysterious stay in Carmel. Both songs are part of the folk song treasury of the United States. Longtimers will be asked to sing choruses of the Abalone Song with Joe. Souvenir copies of this ditty with the writers of verses identified (one is by Sinclair Lewis) will be distributed. The verses were composed on the beach as early residents pounded abalone for their picnic feasts.

True longtimer Marty Artellan has promised to bring his accordion. Mariachis will play as they did for the annual Forest Theater breakfasts in years past.

Stars of the longtimers cast will be those who remember the early village days of Carmel and have contributed to making it a town famed the world over. Their names remain as surprises for those who come to eat the pancakes, sausage and coffee prepared by soldiers from Fort Ord who will arrive at daylight to set up their camp kitchens in the orchestra pit in front of the stage. Pal, the town dog who is buried under a nearby oak will, no doubt, in spirit, wag his tail at the tempting whiffs from sizzling sausage.

Just how much of this sausage will sizzle, just how much pancake batter must be beaten and how many gallons of coffee brewed depends on the number of reservations made by telephoning 624-4713 or 624-3002 or 624-3220 before noon Friday. Anyone who arrives Sunday without phoning faces a prospect of no breakfast. Cost is $1.75 and covers the price of food and service only.

And should it rain—the Carmel Unified School District has given permission for the breakfast to be held in th cafeteria at Carmel High School. The time will be the same 10 a.m.

Discussions On Life In Carmel Past And Present

The many aspects of life in Carmel since its incorporation as a city 50 years ago, also at the present time, will be described by representative citizens during the 11 days of the city's golden anniversary celebration which starts tomorrow and continues through October 31, the actual date of incorporation.

A panel of Mayors of Carmel, with former Mayor Keith Evans, now chairman of the Monterey County Planning Commission, as moderator starts the events scheduled by Councilman Gunnar Norberg, anniversary celebration chairman.

Oldtimers Gertrude Rendtorff, Mai McGrury and Jeanie Morgan Klenke will participate in a panel on "Remembered Days."

The local history of the three centuries before incorporation will be narrated by Donald

Three Free Concerts Open City's Golden Anniversary Celebration

Three free concerts—tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday evening—start Carmel's 11-day Golden Anniversary Celebration. They are to be given in Sunset Center Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. All of the concerts are presented under the auspices of the Carmel Arts Commission. The last is being co-sponsored by Musicians' Local No. 616. The series, also, is a gift of the City of Carmel to its citizens.

First in the series is the all-Chopin program tomorrow evening, by Gilbert Boyer, noted interpreter of this composer. Mr. Boyer recently returned to Carmel from an international concert tour.

His early musical training was gained in the East, where he received his degree from the New England Conservatory of Music. Once a pupil of the distinguished Brazilian pianist, Guiomar Novaes, Boyer's performance gives evidence of that study. He also studied for several years under the late Egon Petri.

Gilbert Boyer's program tomorrow evening will include Chopin nocturnes and etudes and a ballade as well as Sonata in B minor, Opus 58.

The second musical event is the Carmel Youth Concert, Saturday night. Advanced pupils of Raymond Fabrizio, John Erickson, Nancy Ness Bowman, Robert Forbes and Gilbert Boyer, will be heard on this program. Three are pianists—Ann Macahilig, Jean Israel and Robert Ramos. Two are singers—Nina Russo, soprano, and Vince Russo, baritone. John Morrice is a violinist; Karen Draper, a flutist. In age, most are in their late teens.

The young people will perform music by Beethoven, Mozart, Mendelssohn, Brahms, Puccini, Debussy, Handel, Gounod and Gershwin.

The third concert will be presented by the Beyer String Trio with guest artists Wade Parks, pianist, and Raymond Fabrizio, flutist, on Sunday evening, and will feature three chamber music works.

Arts And Crafts Fair An Anniversary Event

Carmel's busy main thoroughfare, Ocean Avenue, will be closed all day on October 30 to automobile traffic for an Arts and Crafts Fair. Members of the Carmel Crafts Guild will demonstrate their various arts between Junipero and Mission streets. There will be entertainment, too. Leo Tanous is chairman for this golden anniversary event.

An exhibit of the work of craftsmen of this area will be presented in Room 7 at Sunset Center from 2-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. October 21 through October 30 sponsored by the craft guild. Included will be ceramics, weaving, sculpture, textile decoration, prints, watercolors, mosaics, jewelry and photographs.

WEATHER

It could rain, maybe tonight, clearly Friday then 10% chance of rain rest of week. Temperatures, days low 70s, nights 50s. West winds 10-25 mph.

Imaginative Conductor Directs Talented Symphony Musicians

by John Upton

Conductor John Gosling spanned three centuries of musical innovation Tuesday evening at Sunset Center Auditorium, where he put the Monterey County Symphony through its paces before a near-capacity audience.

Giovanni Gabrieli's "Sonata Pian' e Forte," written by the brilliant Venetian contrapuntist in 1597 and arranged for two brass choirs spaced apart to provide an echo effect, displays the earliest known scored directions for the volume of sound to be produced by ensemble players, and was conceived as a test piece for the new "concerto" style. As performed Tuesday night by 12 brass men including Greg Sprung, David Hawley, Gale Jacobsen, Carlberg Jones, and David Pitfield of Carmel and Pebble Beach, this stately and sonorous fragment from the High Renaissance seemed oddly modern in its understatement.

While Gabrieli's sonata may not have come as a surprise to inveterate discophiles in Tuesday's audience, it is safe to bet that the second experimental work chosen by Mr. Gosling startled many listeners. "The Unanswered Question," an early 20th-century work by the American insurance executive and musical iconoclast Charles Ives, displays relatively few of the composer's favorite hair-raising orchestral devices; yet it leaves one with the feeling that something totally unique and vaguely outrageous has taken place.

Ives was the first composer to use "tone clusters," often produced by the pianist by laying a ruler on the keys and banging it with his fist; he used atonality before Bartok and Schoenberg and quarter-tones before Alois Haba; his scores abounded in instructions to the players such as "from here on, the bassoon may play anything at all." In a programmatic analysis of one of his works, Ives explained: "These prefatory essays were written by the composer for those who can't stand his music—and the music for those who can't stand the essays. To those who can't stand either, the whole is respectfully dedicated."

As Mr. Gosling and his disciples showed us Tuesday night, "The Unanswered Question" is neither nonsensical nor formless. Against a background of sustained, muted chords for strings, an off-stage solo trumpet (played in a masterful fashion by Ernest Smith of Pacific Grove) made a brief, plaintive statement, to be answered by a quartet of woodwinds. This phrase was repeated several times in a haunted kind of way, with the woodwinds responding each time in a more agitated and impatient manner, as though each were striving to make itself heard above the others. As the contending voices died away, only the strings were heard, still humming to themselves. At last they, too, faded into silence.

Whatever Ives may have had in mind (it is easy to believe that his own explanation, as given in the program notes, was written after the fact), "The Unanswered Question" turned out to be, in Mr. Gosling's hands, a curiously disturbing and memorable experience. Perhaps he may be persuaded to give us some more Ives one of these days.

"The Royal Fireworks Music" is not one of George Frederic Handel's best works, but it continues to crop up on symphony programs with its rather jazzy blend of sweetness and pomposity. There are lovely moments for the strings in the second section, and the chattering woodwinds, like a tree full of birds, in the third are a small delight; but on the whole it seems like a space-filler. Aside from a little uncertainty in the trumpet section, the orchestra romped through it in fine style Tuesday evening.

As for Glinka's overture to "Russlan and Ludmilla," there doesn't seem to be much to say except that it might have been more entertaining if it had not been played so perfectly. A few clinkers might improve it, the old war horse.

Tchaikowski's Fifth Symphony appears on symphony programs pretty often, too; but it is such a superb piece of orchestral writing that one is always entranced anew by such sheer mastery of a medium. Mr. Gosling's performance was a distinguished one, particularly in his use of a really excellent string section in the rather demanding third movement. With the able assistance of his talented concertmistress, Judith Poska, he has brought the strings to a high degree of excellence.

A high point in Tuesday's concert was Calberg Jones' really magnificent French horn solo in the Tchaikowski second movement. Here is a man to watch.

All in all, the first concert of the Monterey County Symphony's 21st season was a serious and creditable performance by talented people, directed by an imaginative conductor. One cannot help suggesting, however, that such talent and such imagination might grow even taller on a somewhat richer and more varied diet.

'Pipe Dream' Opens Oct. 29

Rehearsing nightly under the direction of Cole Weston is the cast of "Pipe Dream," the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical which brings to life the colorful characters of Cannery Row as depicted by John Steinbeck in his novel, "Sweet Thursday." Marlinde von Ruhs has designed the sets for the production which will open on October 29 in Sunset Center auditorium as part of Carmel's Golden Anniversary Celebration.

Kirby Hansen takes the part of Doc, based on the late Dr. Edward Ricketts who lived in Carmel prior to World War II. His children attended Carmel schools and his sister is Mrs. Fred Strong, the wife of Carmel's postmaster.

Dick Vreeland will portray Hazel, and Rudy Gatti, Mac, two of the lovable "bums" who frequent Doc's biological laboratory and undertake to lift his gloomy spirits by a phenomenal party. Millicent and Suzy, two of the "ladies" across the street will be played, respectively, by Judy Dietrich and Lollie Schwabe. Fauna, the "madame" with a heart of gold who maintains the establishment opposite Doc's lab, will be the role of Maggi Weston.

Forest Durland is the production's musical director. Members of the orchestra are Durland, Ray Fabrizio, Ted Hampton and Claude Gilroy. Dale Lefler is the show's choreographer.

Councilman William Sefton is ticket chairman. Seats, all unreserved, will cost $1.50. "Pipe Dream" will also be presented on October 30 and November 4, 11 and 12.

CONCERT ASSOCIATION SERIES STARTS

The Monterey Peninsula Concert Association opens the current season with a presentation of the Oukhtomsky Ballet Classique tomorrow evening at 8:15 in the auditorium of the Pacific Grove Junior High School.

Attendance at the concert is limited to members of the association, and members of similar associations on a space available basis.

Tryouts At Studio Sunday And Monday

The Studio Theatre will hold auditions Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and Monday at 7 p.m. to select a cast for "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum." Slated to open in mid-December, the musical comedy calls for ten men of all ages, one mature woman and six young women of attractive face and figure to play slave girls and the heroine. Twins or look-alikes are sought for two of these parts and at least one very tall girl is needed.

While previous stage experience is not required, good voices are desirable. The show involves little dancing. Candidates for slave girls should bring swim suits or leotards to assist in preliminary costume fittings. Anyone unable to try out at the scheduled hours may call director Michael Keller at 624-1661 to arrange another time.

A travesty of life in ancient Rome based broadly on the works of Plautus, "A Funny Thing" ran nearly 1,000 performances in its New York production with Zero Mostel in the leading role.

COMMUNITY THEATRE DIRECTOR SELECTED FOR PROGRAM

The Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula takes great pleasure in announcing that Norman McPhee, the dramatic group's managing director, has been selected by the American National Theatre and Academy to attend its resident theatre management training program in New York City for two weeks beginning November 7. Mr. McPhee is one of 25 persons in the United States to qualify for this program.

The program will consist of lectures and workshops on every phase of theatre operation.

LINES FROM THE STUDIO

Guess who came to see "Never Too Late" last Sunday? Its author, Sumner Arthur Long, that's who. Among other nice things he said to our cast afterward, the best was that he found himself unable to keep from laughing at his own funny lines as delivered from our stage. And he's seen the show a hundred times. We're holding over "Never Too Late" Friday, Saturday and Sunday this weekend and Friday and Saturday next. Don't miss it! That spell-binding drama "The Little Foxes" opens November 4 for six weekends with a stellar cast. Don't miss it! Either show comes with our excellent dinner for $5.50 or without dinner for $2.75. Who knows what celebrity might attend the same performance as you?

High Twelve Club Installs Officers

An impressive meeting of the Carmel High Twelve Club on Monday at Asilomar combined the club's Ladies' Day, commemoration of its tenth anniversary and the installation of officers for the coming year.

Sworn in as president by installing officer Vinton S. Malcolm, president of High Twelve International, was William E. Williams. Others are H. W. Allen and Phillip B. Smith, first and second vice presidents, respectively; Ralph W. Thompson Sr., secretary, George B. Baxter, treasurer; Dr. Corwin S. Clark and Bert R. King, sergeants-at-arms; Christian J. Hawkes, chaplain.

Local officials, guests and visiting dignitaries were introduced after opening ceremonies and luncheon. Retiring President Ralph Thompson Sr. observed that there are 24 50-year Masons in the club, of whom 12 were present. An equal number of couples who have been married 50 years were presented. Past president Howard Thompson awarded the retiring president with a certificate of past office and the past president's lapel pin. Mrs. Ralph Thompson was surprised with a large bouquet of red roses, given to her by President Williams on behalf of the club.

Judge Eugene Harrah, charter member, gave the main address in observance of the club's tenth anniversary, speaking eloquently of High Twelve's objectives and ideals. Guests then enjoyed a program of vocal and instrumental music under the direction of Morris Dill of the Pacific Grove High School.

Announced was the opening of Grand Lodge at the Pacific Grove Lodge Temple, 8 p.m., October 22, for the purpose of instituting the New Gateway Masonic Lodge of Seaside.

CARMEL RECEIVES SAFETY AWARD

The City of Carmel received an award Monday for winning top place in its group in the 1965-1966 California Cities Employee Safety Contest. The award was given to the city for having the lowest number of disabling injuries per million man-hours worked during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1966. Carmel's achievement was announced at the annual conference of the League of California Cities in San Diego and the award was presented to Mayor Steve Grant by the general manager of the State Compensation Insurance Fund, R. A. Young. Finance Officer A. M. Plaxton is the city's safety chairman.

Talcott Reception

Congressman Burt L. Talcott arrived this week from Washington, D. C., to personally intensify his campaign for re-election for a third time. His first appearance in Monterey County will be on Sunday when he will be the guest of honor at a no-host reception from 3-5 p.m. at Rancho Del Monte Country Club in Carmel Valley. A Republican, Talcott represents the 12th Congressional District.

WAYFARER EVENTS

On Saturday, a spaghetti supper will be served from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. by the Senior High Youth Fellowship of the Church of the Wayfarer in Fellowship Hall. Tickets—$1.25 for adults, 75 cents for children—may be purchased at the door, from Youth Fellowship members, or the church office.

On October 30, John Emerson will lead a Hymn Festival at 3:30 p.m., using the new Methodist Hymnal.

The future bride, above, is Suzanne Arley (Suzi) Smith, whose engagement to Thomas Sherman Crary was announced this month by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Arley Smith of Carmel.

Suzi graduated from the Carmel schools and attended the University of California and the University of Florence, Italy.

Her fiance, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Crary of Boone, Iowa, attended Colgate University and was graduated this year from the Menlo School of Business Administration.

Bob Parkhurst Was Home

Seaman Recruit Robert R. Parkhurst (USN) was home on leave to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parkhurst, after graduating from basic training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego. Bob has now reported for a 34-week course in electricity, electronics and radio.

Alec Gibson Away

Alec Gibson left yesterday to spend a few days at the Mill Valley home of his sister, Mrs. John G. Cobey, owner-director of The Cobey Private School. Mrs. Cobey has been a frequent visitor over the years and, in fact, was married at the old Episcopal Church which is now the city hall.

Wed At Highlands Inn

Jean Kathryn Serpell of Daytona Beach, Florida, and Ray Stumbo, chairman of the social studies department at Carmel High School, exchanged wedding vows Saturday before Dr. George Hunter Hall of the Carmel Presbyterian Church. The double ring ceremony took place at noon in the Highlands Inn Chapel.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Serpell, was given in marriage by her uncle, Joseph Hellman Shollenberger of Holly Hill, Florida.

Her day-length dress of white peau de soie was A-line in style, fashioned with long sleeves and a choir boy collar. A Dior bow held a circlet French illusion veil to her hair and she carried a bouquet of cymbidium orchids. Encircling her throat were the pearls which had belonged to her mother.

Mrs. Hudson Harman of Daytona Beach, matron of honor, was attired in a long sleeved sheath of turquoise silk organza over taffeta, trimmed with iridescent bugle beads. She wore a matching crown shaped hat and pinned on a corsage of ivory cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Shollenberger attended her niece's wedding in a gold crepe sheath, with which she wore matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Leonard Elofson of Salem, Oregon, chose a gold brocade costume suit and matching accessories.

Raymond T. Gere served as best man and Hudson Harman of Daytona Beach seated the guests.

A wedding breakfast at Highlands Inn followed the ceremony. In addition to members of the bridal party, out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Adrian Brown of Daytona Beach and Leonard Elofson of Salem, Oregon.

After a brief honeymoon in San Francisco, the couple is now at home in Pebble Beach.

Before marriage, the new Mrs. Stumbo was a teacher at Mainland High School in Daytona Beach. She graduated from Stephens College and the University of North Carolina, later took her master's degree at Stetson University. She was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority and is a member of Alpha Delta Kappa.

Pam Baldwin and Sandi Bauman are just two of the attractive models who will be showing the latest 'in" fashions at the Carmel Youth Center's Annual Fashion Show on October 29 at 7:30 p.m.

A donation of $1.50 will entitle guests to a chance on door prizes, also to the dance following the show.

Mr. Stumbo received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Oregon. A member of the executive board of the California Council for Social Studies, he belongs to Kappa Sigma fraternity, the California Teachers Association and the Association of Carmel Teachers. While in military service, the bridegroom was on the staff of the Adjutant General in Bordeaux, France.

Mrs. Work Brought News

Mrs. Thomas A. Work Jr. of Pebble Beach returned from London Sunday evening with the news that Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Silverberg (Donna Work) are the parents of a new baby boy, Robert Kenneth, who arrived on October 4, weighing eight pounds, 14 ounces. The choice of Robert for the newcomer's name should please everyone, since it is a familiar one on both sides of the family.

Mrs. Work spent three weeks at the Silverbergs' charming, if chilly, Burton Mews residence in the English capital, tending to the needs of 18 month-old Michael and generally being the indispensable grandmother.

The children's paternal grandmother, is Mrs. Robert Silverberg of New York.

RETURN TO CARMEL

Lieutenant Colonel John L. Olow III, his wife, Toddy, and their children, John IV, Sebree Ann, Christopher and Alexander have returned to Carmel after residing in Germany for two years where Colonel Olow commanded the 2nd Batallion, 32nd Armor "NATO's Post of Honor" of the 3rd Armored Division (Spearhead). Mrs. Olow is the former Pauline Sebree, daughter of Mrs. E. B. Sebree and the late Major General E. B. Sebree of Carmel Meadows. The family lived in Carmel from 1960 to 1964 at which time the children attended the Carmel Mission Junipero Serra School where they are once again enrolled, except John IV, who is a sophomore at Carmel High School. Colonel Olow is the newly appointed Commanding Officer of Special Troops Command, United States Army Garrison, Fort Ord, and during his assignment the family will reside in Mission Fields.

Dramatic Talent At Work

John K. Hicks Jr., known as Ken, is carrying on the family amateur theatrical tradition at Grinnell College in Iowa, where he is in his sophomore year. Ken participated in a recent theatre workshop production at the college, directing two review sketches by Harold Pinter, "Request Stop" and "That's Your Trouble." John and Regina Hicks, Ken's parents, have the leading roles in the current production of "The Best Man" at the Circle Theatre.

A happy turn of events is that Bill Hicks, a Grinnell graduate, is now stationed at Fort Ord so that he and his wife can see the family often. Bob, the senior Hickses' youngest son, is a student at Carmel High School and active in the revived AFS chapter there.

Sorority Pledge At UCSB

Gloria Ewig, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ewig of Carmel, has pledged to Delta Gamma sorority at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Gloria is the daughter of Gordon Ewig, who grew up in Carmel, and Mrs. Ewig of San Marino.

James Groark At Hueneme

Seaman James B. Groark, USNR, reported for active duty last June and is assigned to the U. S. Naval Mobile Construction Eight (MCB-8) at Port Hueneme. Jim, one of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Groark's seven children, graduated from Carmel High School and attended Monterey Peninsula College. The family looks forward to seeing him in early November, when he is scheduled for a two-week leave before his batallion leaves for Viet Nam.

Engagement Announced In East

Mr. and Mrs. Peter K. Biehl of Huntingdon Valley, Pennsylvania, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Karin, to Gerhard W. Kalmus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Kalmus of Carmel Valley.

Miss Biehl, a 1964 graduate of Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pennsylvania, is a laboratory technician with Merck, Sharp and Dohme Pharmaceutical Laboratories in West Point, Pennsylvania.

Her fiance served two years as a Navy corpsman with the U. S. Marine Corps in the Orient and graduated this year from the University of California, Berkeley. Mr. Kalmus plans to continue his education toward a medical career in the field of pathology.

Bardot Behind Bars

The first animal Mrs. George Bestor and her young daughter, Veronica, saw when they visited the London Zoo was Brigitte Bardot, draped only in white fox furs and caged, to all appearance, behind bars with a flock of vultures. The spectacular French actress was on location for a new film, drawing rather more attention than her furred and feathered companions.

While in London for a month to visit her parents, Mrs. Bestor indulged in all the plays and concerts time allowed. A highlight shared by Veronica was an all-Tschaikowsky program at the Royal Albert Hall and she really sat up when the Grenadier Guards band closed the concert with the 1812 Overture, complete with real cannon.

When their plane landed in Los Angeles, they were met by Mr. Bestor and daughter Jennifer, who had had a special treat, too. Accompanying her engineer father, she was the sole lady at a planning convention of 400 men which he attended in Los Angeles. Jennifer, a sixth grader, was chosen to draw the names of winners of free tickets to the World Series last week.

Virginia City Wedding

Mrs. Donna Chenoweth of Carmel was married to Harold O'Neill, teacher of police science at Monterey Peninsula College, at Virginia City, Nevada, on September 25. Held on a lovely hillside just outside the historic western town, the double ring ceremony was performed by a local justice of the peace, Edward Colletti. The unusual site selected was recently purchased by the couple.

A group of friends and relatives, who had come from the Peninsula, gathered after the ceremony to toast the newlyweds with champagne, which was served at a gaily striped half-tent set up on the green grass dotted with wildflowers. The bridal party and guests then drove into Virginia City, where a more formal reception at the Silver Dollar Hotel included local friends. That evening, a wedding dinner was held at Sharon House.

Members of the wedding party who accompanied the couple to Virginia City were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Chenoweth of Pacific Grove, son and daughter-in-law of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore O'Neill of Sacramento, the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law; Major and Mrs. Philip Hukill and Robert Cormack of Fort Ord, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Ellis and Mrs. Patty Miller of Pacific Grove, and Mrs. Donna McPherson of Monterey.

The bride, given in marriage by her son, asked Mrs. McPherson to serve as her matron of honor. Mr. McCormack was best man.

The new Mrs. O'Neill is now back at her desk in the office of the Comptroller of the U.S. Army Combat Developments Command Experimentation Command at Fort Ord, where she has served since 1958 as its budget officer. She is active in the Monterey Peninsula Business and Professional Women's Club and is currently its president-elect.

Her husband retired from the Army September 30, his final assignment having been with Fort Ord's 62nd Military Police Detachment (CI). In addition to instructing at MPC evening classes, he is taking advanced study during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill are making their home in Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wild, who really qualify as part-time Carmelites, are here from Hemet for a few weeks to enjoy one of their favorite seasons on the Peninsula.

A Talent Revealed

Paul J. Vial's talents as a fly fisherman have just come to our attention through a copy of The Creel, published by the Flyfisher's Club of Oregon. "Wet flies in the hands of experts will give the dry fly fisherman something to think about," writes Donald H. Bates in an article extolling the mastery of Mrs. Stella Ely in tying flies.

The author explains that he has fly fished in the U. S., England, Scotland, Canada, Central and South America, New Zealand and Japan.

"There are so many accomplished fly fishermen, all with exceptional abilities . . . for now, only one man stands out and he was a disciple of the "wet fly" pundits. He was Mr. Paul J. Vial, Prindle, Washington, later of Carmel in retirement. What he could do with a flat pressed fly in making it perform, one-quarter inch below the surface of the water, was unbelievable. On a memorable fishing trip, my boasting of his skill upped the bets for me to $100. Paul had been delayed two hours because he forgot his reel and discovered his loss only on arrival at the stream.

"Early in the afternoon I located him sleeping on the banks of the Crooked River, and with my money still riding on him. The trout limit was 15. He had passed that handily and his catch was cleaned and in the creel. The rest of us trailed far back.

"His touch in handling a wetfly was phenomenal. On a California stream Paul gave an impromptu exhibition. The crowd approved, but one man tapped him on the shoulder. 'Each of those fish you have caught, over five, will cost you $5. I am the game warden.'"

Though Mr. Vial, who celebrated his 87th birthday in July, no longer seeks the wily trout in mountain streams, he leads an active life and each sunset finds him walking the beach with his dog, Beau.

Art News . . .

The first annual Fine Arts and Crafts Festival will be held at the Monterey County Fairgrounds on October 29 and 30. Featured will be an exhibition selected and hung by the Museum of Art Association. There will be a champagne preview and reception for exhibiting artists on October 28.

During the festival, over 50 artists will be working in ceramics, jewelry, weaving, sculpture, woodwork and painting. There will also be an international cafe featuring foods from many lands and cultures. On two stages, continuous musical entertainment, also ballet, folk and flamenco dancing, will be presented. Included, too, in the festival will be a photographic display, a gallery showing gifted children's art work, and the opportunity for all children to create in the Junior Artists in Action section.

The festival will close with an art auction on the outdoor stage at the fairgrounds on October 30 at 2 p.m.

The event is a fund raising event sponsored by the Salinas Symphony Guild.

To benefit the Carmel Bach Festival, a preview showing of the documentary film, "Emile Norman," will be presented on November 19 in Sunset Center auditorium at 8:30 p.m. The motion picture depicting the life and work of Mr. Norman, a sculptor who lives and works at Big Sur, was produced by Harrington/Westwick Productions and will come to Carmel directly from the San Francisco Film Festival. Tickets may be obtained by writing to Carmel Bach Festival, Inc., Box 503, Carmel.

The private collection of a Carmel artist, the late E. Cashion MacLennan, was willed to Monterey Peninsula College, including a group of original prints. Included in the gift was a small subsidy for for the care and storing of the collection.

Until the end of October, watercolors by Nancy Johnson and Berenice Huber, both of Carmel, are on display at the Bennett Art Gallery in Stockton. The former is a member of the Carmel Art Association and the Western Society of Artists.

A trompe d'oeil painting deceives the eye. It is said that the first, by a Roman artist, was of bread and grapes, executed so perfectly that crows flew to peck at its painted bread crumbs.

At Galerie de Tours on Lincoln Street, the works of Raymond Whyte can tempt almost anyone to touch a dew drop on the petal of a rose or right a ribbon which seems to hang over a frame.

Raymond Whyte has been described as one of the most gifted of all the younger surrealist painters in the country by critics. This opinion has stemmed from more than a superb technique. There is an intellectual quality to Whyte's painting, a restless probing that irresistibly reminds the art historian of Bosch's brilliantly impetuous forays into the subconscious. The wedding of technique used by the early Flemish masters with the incisive outlook of modern contemplative thought makes Whyte's painting an emotional experience that few can forget. He studied at the Art Students League with Edwin Dickinson, also in France, Italy and Spain. His work has been shown in London, Paris and Florence.

Art classes being conducted at the New Monterey Neighborhood Center, 280 Dickman Street, include the following: figure drawing, Thursday from 7:30-1-0 p.m. Pat Carey instructor; sculpture, Tuesdays, 1:30-4:30 p.m., Lenore Woolans, instructor; watercolor, Saturdays at 9:30, Sam Colburn, instructor.

The Society of Western Artists is celebrating its 25th anniversary with an exhibit at the De Young Museum in Golden Gate Park which opens Tuesday and will run through November 20. One hundred and thirteen works—oils, watercolors and graphics—were selected from over 600 entries.

Members of the jury of selection and awards were Frederick Whitaker, N. A., nationally known watercolorist; Earl Thollander, painter and illustrator; and Othello Michetti, known for his paintings throughout the world. Rene Weaver, watercolorist and president of the society, was an alternate.

The largest cash awards yet offered in S.W.A. annuals, amounting to $2,050, were given to 14 oils and ten watercolors and graphics.

Among the prize winners was Helen Gapen Oehler of Carmel Valley. Her painting, "September," won the $50 Flax Award.

The Naval Postgraduate School fourth annual Religious Art Show will open on January 30. Local artists who have gained awards and recognition in the past are Louisa Jenkins of Carmel; Ellwood Graham of Pebble Beach; and William Rabinowitch of Pacific Grove, winner of last year's first award in painting in the professional division.

It is anticipated that this year's show will prove to be one of the biggest. Prizes totaling $600 will be awarded.

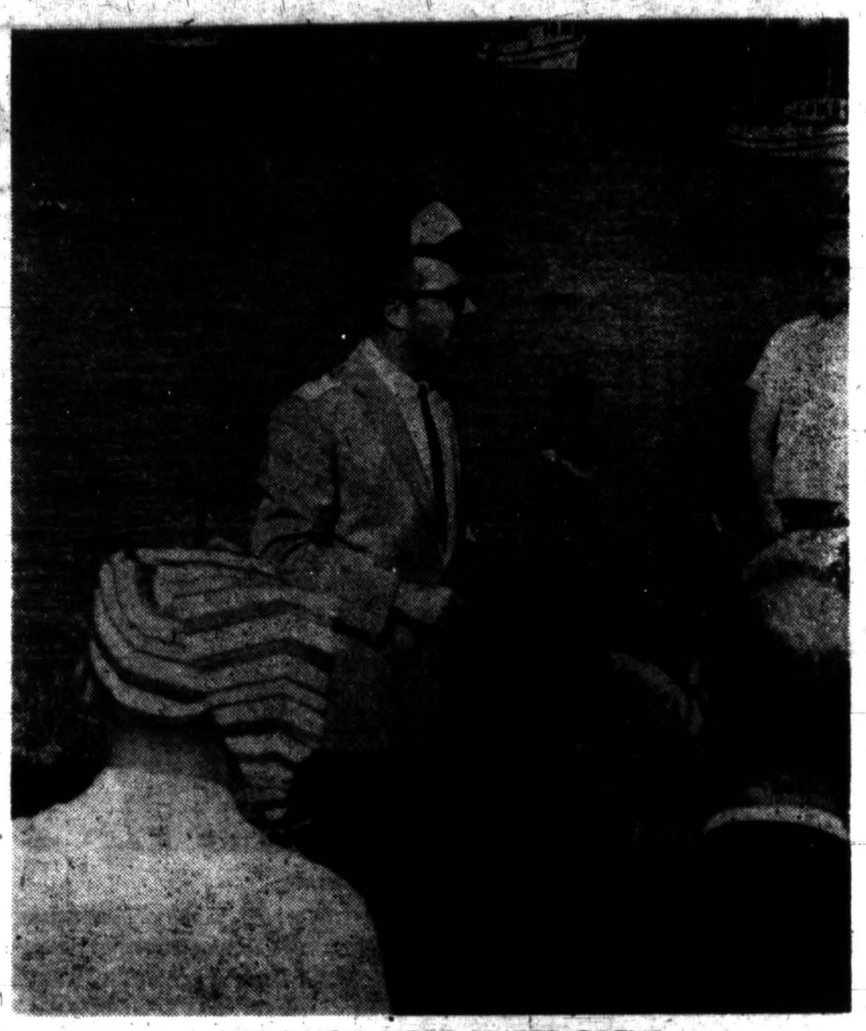
Sponsor of this event is the Catholic Chapel Guild of the Naval Postgraduate School. A children's division was added last year and was a great success. It will be continued this year with a larger scope, and hopes of many more entries. More information or application forms may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. James Dorsey, (372-0982) or Mrs. Michael Ettel, (372-1013).

Cypress Nite Stand Gives Hospital Piano

Residents of the Carmel Convalescent Hospital now have a piano, thanks to the Cypress Nite Stand of the Monterey Peninsula, which purchased the instrument with proceeds from its rummage sale. The gift of the piano represents but one facet of the club, which is devoted to filling the needs and lonely hours of the hospitalized, the shut-ins and many of our older citizens.

The club, a charter member of an organization known internationally as the Nitecap International Association, welcomes new members who would like to help in its expanding program. In addition to a monthly donation to the arts and crafts program at the convalescent hospital, members teach there in this field every Tuesday and Thursday from 2-2:30 p.m. The group meets on alternate Friday nights for the purpose of writing to shut-ins, etc., throughout the country. Regular meetings are held at the Estrada Adobe in Monterey to consider areas where help may be indicated, such as providing Thanksgiving dinners for needy families and planning a party for children who might otherwise not have a Christmas.

Speakers of general interest also address the monthly meetings, which are held on the third Tuesday and are open to anyone who wishes to learn more of the organization. Further information may be obtained by phoning the club's president, Marian Fischer.



Ap COMMODORE BRIEFS CREW

Commodore Bertram Rudolph, of the Commodore Thomas ap Catesby Jones Society, briefs his crew for the first reenactment of the landing of Commodore Jones who claimed Monterey for the United States in 1842 only to find he had made a mistake—Mexico and this country were not at war. He unclaimed his capture 30 hours later. The CTapCJS will reinvade in front of Monterey's Custom House on Saturday, 3-4:30 p.m.

Hospital Auxiliary Council Met Here

Fourteen hospital auxiliaries were represented at the semi-annual luncheon meeting of the Coast Counties Auxiliary Council held on October 10 at LaPlaya Hotel. Auxiliary members of the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula acted as hostesses of the group of 97, with Mrs. Lucille Isaacson, auxiliary president, presiding at the meeting. Mrs. Dottie Rosendale, Los Gatos, chairman of the Coast Counties Auxiliary Council, gave a short welcoming address.

The program topic was "Medical, Hospital and Nursing Care in a Changing World," and the speakers were Thomas Tonkin, administrator of Community Hospital, and Catherine McDonough, R.N., instructor of medical and surgical nursing, Hartnell College, Salinas.

Mrs. William Byrnes, past president of the Auxiliary of Community Hospital, and Mrs. Charles French, president-elect, were in charge of arrangements for the meeting. A tour of Community Hospital for 80 visitors was on the schedule following the luncheon.

Woman's Club Film On California Birds

"California Birds Close-up" is the title of a film program and commentary to be presented on Monday for the Carmel Woman's Club book section by well-known naturalist Dorothy Dean Sheldon (Mrs. Frank Scott).

The speaker, now a Carmel Valley resident, has had many years' experience as a photographer and lecturer on wild life, beginning in her native Massachusetts and during her later years in California. Among those with whom she studied and worked were Dr. Herbert V. Neal, noted biologist, and Dr. Joseph Grinnell, one of the country's leading ornithologists. During her career as a field aide with the Girl Scouts, she became acquainted with such notables as Sir Robert and Lady Baden Powell and Ernest Thompson Seton.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Clare Appleby, book section chairman, are Mrs. Vera Jackson, Mrs. A. C. Bryans, Mrs. M. S. Hughes and Mrs. Arthur E. Zipse. Mrs. Mildred F. Moore, Mrs. W. Phelps Jr., Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard and Mrs. W. B. Skowran will preside at the tea tables.

Man's Greatest Potential Untapped, Says Christian Science Lecturer

Christian Scientist Jane O. Robbins, C. S., told a public audience here Monday that man's greatest potential is still untapped.

Fulfillment of our "larger possibilities," she said, is basically a spiritual process. It must take place through a deeper sense of prayer—"through individual awakening and spiritualization of thought."

It depends on a growing awareness of man's "relationship to God."

Miss Robbins, who served as a WAF pilot during World War II, is a recognized Christian Science practitioner from Boulder, Colorado. She is now in the midst of a tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, and spoke here under sponsorship of the Carmel church.

The lecture was presented in the Village Theatre, with the title "What Is Your Potential?"

Miss Robbins noted that the world today faces "not only its familiar fears of disease, accident, lack, and loneliness—it also faces an increasingly disturbed sense of individual nonidentity and meaninglessness.

"Some people feel that there is no place for them, no opportunity, no health, happiness or security," she said. Other individuals, "feeling themselves to be without purpose or value, attempt a subtle form of self-destruction through the use of narcotics and alcohol, through immorality and crime."

But "in any situation we can do something about our thinking and therefore about our experience," the lecturer declared.

The premise that man is prey to material environment and its bleak destiny needn't be accepted by anyone.

"Regardless of what our physical or psychological history may be, we can begin at this moment and at every moment to understand and to live the full measure of our true being.

"Perhaps we need only to be awakened to the full import of John's words as given in the Bible: 'Beloved, now are we the sons of God'" (I John 3).

It takes spiritual perception to grasp the significance of such statements, Miss Robbins said. Spiritual understanding alone "reveals the true nature and essence and the unlimited possibilities of man."

This spiritual understanding, she said, "is inherent in every individual. To discover it is to discover the freedom to be yourself in the most complete and satisfying sense."

One of the first steps towards such discovery, she indicated, is often simply learning to pray, to respond to God.

"It isn't the purpose of prayer to change the thought of God," she declared. "It's to spiritualize our own thought. She quoted the Christian Science textbook: "Prayer cannot change the Science of being, but it tends to bring us into harmony with it". (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 2.

Praying on this basis can have far-reaching healing effects, Miss Robbins added, and told of an actual case diagnosed as typhoid fever in which the young boy involved was completely healed within a day by the prayers of his mother, based on the Bible statement that God is Love. The lecturer noted that "the simplest acknowledgment of the nature, the presence, and the healing power of God has been enough to destroy both fear and fever and to restore a right sense of being."

She also added this caution, that such prayer depends on learning "how to protect our God-given ability to think independently and spiritually . . . We don't always recognize the demoralizing influence of 'hidden persuaders' and 'brainwashing' in many areas of human experience."

Miss Robbins charged that selfishness, cynicism and sensuality come from the aggressive influence of materialistic thinking which tries to "convince us that we don't want good," that good is "unnatural, unsatisfying, and extremely dull.

"Such thinking insists that dishonesty, infidelity, immorality, indifference, self-will, and the like, are to be expected. It says this is a world where each one has to look out for his own selfish interests and pleasures regardless of the effect on his neighbor.

"What a colorless sense of good this is!" she remarked. "What a weak and impoverished sense of manhood and womanhood, of life and of love.

"The true adventure of being lies in the richness, the freedom, and the deep satisfaction that accompany spiritual thinking and living. Once we begin to experience this, we won't settle for so much less."

By way of encouragement, the lecturer added this further thought: "The sin, ignorance, and fear that operate so harmfully in human affairs can always be challenged and destroyed because they are no more an element of man's true being than a mistake in arithmetic is an element of mathematics.

"It often takes patience and perserverance," she observed, "but every individual has this gift of spiritual perception . . . and love."

To love in the purest sense, said Miss Robbins, "means to acknowledge for ourselves and for every other individual the right and the ability to express the divine nature. . . . It means to heal by knowing that every individual's health and happiness, his value and his right place, are dependent only on his relationship to God, not on race or age or sex or chance or any other material consideration. It means to fearlessly challenge whatever would claim to enslave or degrade or corrupt, to hurt or to destroy.

"What will happen," she asked, "when everyone makes a presistent effort to see the divine nature of each individual with whom he comes in contact and to know him as in reality a son of God? How many of the world's problems will be solved on that day!"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord: let thy loving kindness and thy truth continually preserve me."

These words from Psalms are part of the responsive reading in this week's Christian Science Lesson-Sermon titled "Probation After Death." The Lesson-Sermon is read each Sunday in Christian Science churches throughout the world.

The sermon also includes these words from Hosea: "I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death."

Among related passages to be read from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is this: "The nature of Christianity is peaceful and blessed, but in order to enter into the kingdom, the anchor of hope must be cast beyond the veil of matter into the Shekinah into which Jesus has passed before us; and this advance beyond matter must come through the joys and triumphs of the righteous as well as through their sorrows and afflictions. Like our Master, we must depart from material sense into the spiritual sense of being."

Sing-Out '66 Returns

Persons who saw Sing-Out '66 on the Peninsula six months ago, also persons who could not attend the sold-out presentation, will be interested to know that the group of young people will return here tomorrow evening for a program at the fairgrounds starting at 8 p.m.

A citizens committee has invited the now world famous show to come back and is underwriting the cost of the appearance. Out of one cast a year ago, have grown three full-time casts spread over the continent. They have played to overflow audiences from Georgia to Nova Scotia and from Cape Cod to Seattle.

The cast of 150 young men and women contains many of the original group plus some new performers. The show has changed a great deal and includes many new songs.

Public Invited To WAC Talk On Germany Tomorrow Night

One of the earliest refugees from German Nazism is the scheduled speaker for the October program tomorrow evening of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula, according to council president Wallace Getz.

Prince Hubertus zu Loewenstein-Wertheim-Freudenberg, former member of the German Bundestag and Visiting Carnegie Professor, will speak on "The Social Revolution of Freedom in Germany" at 8 p.m. in the library lecture hall at Monterey Peninsula College.

Getz announced the council has extended an open invitation to the community to hear Prince Loewenstein, who will be feted by members of the council at a dinner at the Pine Inn preceding his lecture.

The speaker was born in 1906 in the Austrian Tyrol. He studied law and political science at the universities of Munich, Hamburg, Geneva and Berlin, and wrote his doctoral thesis on fascism and democracy at the universities of Hamburg and Florence, Italy. A leader of the Republican Youth Movement in Berlin actively fighting against the rising tide of totalitarianism in the early 1920s, Prince Loewenstein and his wife fled Germany in April, 1933, when their lives were threatened by the National Socialists (Nazis).

The couple found refuge in the United States and the prince spent the next 12 years making coast-to-coast lectures in the U. S. and teaching at Swarthmore College, Brown, Rutgers and other eastern universities.

After defeat of the Nazis, he and his family returned to Germany to help in the democratic reconstruction of his country. A member of Chancellor Adenauer's Christian-Democratic party, he served from 1953 to 1957 in the Bundestag. He has written many books in his field and his present lecture tour in the U. S. is his sixth since return to his homeland in 1946.

LSD LAW IN EFFECT

California's new law restricting the use of the potent, hallucinogenic drug LSD became law on October. The new statute, authored by State Senator Donald L. Grunsky (R-Watsonville), and aimed at curbing LSD use by thrill-seeking young people, makes it a misdemeanor to possess LSD or similar drugs for non-medical purposes and a felony to sell, transport or manufacture the drugs for improper purposes.

All mammals except primates are color blind.

PARTY PLANS . . .

By Phyllis Jervey

SEVEN SUMMIT SPECIALTIES

United States Embassy hostesses of the summit nations President and Mrs. Johnson are visiting, yesterday through November 2, may be in a state of excitement. What to serve for dinner, lunch, receptions?

As PARTY PLANS hasn't the vaguest idea what the menus will be in advance, we are giving the favored dish of each visited country instead. We'll be hearing and reading so much during these coming two weeks about this unprecedented Presidential tour, we hope you'll enjoy an armchair cook's tour with us.

NEW ZEALAND

Let's start with the "down under" lands, New Zealand and Australia. In Wellington, New Zealand, seafood supersedes other native dishes, as nationals of this British Commonwealth are great fishermen. One of the specialties easily duplicated here on Monterey Bay is.

NEW ZEALAND LEMON FISH
(Serves 6)

Three lbs. flounder, halibut, or other white-meat fish, cut into 6 thick slices; 2 tsps. salt; 3 tbsps. butter; 2 onions, sliced fine; ½ tsp. each pepper and powdered ginger; dash of mace; 2 cups water; 1/3 cup lemon juice; 2 tbsps. grated lemon rind, 2 eggs; 2 tbsps. flour; ½ tsp. saffron; 2 tbsps. chopped parsley.

Wash and dry fish. Sprinkle with salt. Melt the butter in a saucepan. Add onions and saute for 5 minutes. Add fish slices and brown slightly. Add seasonings and water. Cover and cook over low heat for 30 minutes. Add lemon juice and rind and stir. Beat eggs in a bowl and add the flour, saffron and parsley, beating well. Add ½ cup of fish stock, beating constantly. Return the contents of bowl to saucepan, again stirring. Cook over very low heat while stirring until thick. Do not allow to boil. Place fish on hot platter and pour sauce over it. Serve with boiled parsleyed and buttered potatoes and green peas sparked with fresh mint. (From "Round-The-World Cookbook" by Myra Waldo)

AUSTRALIA

In Canberra, Australia, most of the English eating habits have been transplanted en toto: Morning Tea, strong as lye, is quaffed very early in the day followed by a substantial English breakfast. Australians have hearty appetites and a delicate appetite is regarded with suspicion, according to Myra Waldo who has toured the world via Pan American garnering the best local recipes from each spot.

AUSTRALIAN JACK OATMEAL BREAD
(Serves 6)

Two tsps. water; 1½ cups oatmeal; 1 tsp. powdered ginger; ¼ lb. butter; 1/3 cup brown sugar; ¼ tsp. baking soda.

Cream the butter; add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Dissolve baking soda in water and add, stirring well. Add oatmeal and ginger, mixing well. Mixture should be fairly firm. If necessary, add a little more oatmeal. Knead lightly on floured surface. Preheat oven to 300 F. Press mixture into buttered baking dish. Dough should be about ½ inch thick. Bake in 300 F. oven for 35 min., or until brown on top. Cut into squares and butter while hot. Good for either breakfast or afternoon Tea. (From "Around-The-World Cookbook" by Myra Waldo).

PHILIPPINES

Manila's fine Filipino regional favorite specialties are served, in this modern nationalistic time, with a continental flourish. The cuisine of the Philippine Islands is especially challenging since it stems from four cultures: the native, with its Tagalog dialect; the inherited colonial Spanish influence; the strong Oriental infusion; and the modern Americanisms retained from our occupation. One of the most popular local dishes preferred by Filipino and American hostesses alike is

FILIPINO PORK ADOBO

Three lbs. pork; 2 cloves garlic; juice of 1 lemon; 6 whole cloves; ½ tsp., each, powdered ginger and nutmeg; 1 small stick cinnamon; 3 tbsps., each, vinegar and olive oil; 1 tbsp. paprika; salt and pepper to taste; ring of flaky white cooked rice.

Cut meat in bite-sized pieces, not too small. Brown in oil; stir in minced garlic, seasonings and enough hot water to cover. Add lemon juice and rind with vinegar; simmer, covered, for 45 minutes. Stir and add more liquid if necessary but do not "drown". When pork is tender, strain sauce and reheat. Serve meat and some of the sauce in center of heated round platter. Surround with a ring of steamed white rice. This is the national favorite of the Philippines. (From "Rice & Spice" by Phyllis Jervey)

THAILAND

In Bangkok, Thailand, we come to the "Venice of the East." Shimmering klongs (canals) lined with tropical trees, and glittering temples are dazzling with a riot of color as the newcomer descends into a world both modern and ancient, mysterious and simple. Thailand is known for its pineapples, mangoes, mangosteens, pomelos (oversized cross of grapefruit and orange) coconut and bananas. Here is a delightful Asian dish of rice, shrimp and bananas.

BANGKOK SHRIMP WITH BANANAS
(Serves 6)

One-fourth cup salad oil, 10 green spring onions; 1 clove garlic, minced; 1 cup raw long-grained white rice; 2 cups chicken broth; 1 cup diced cooked ham; 3 tbsps. chopped crystallized ginger; 1 lb. shelled deveined shrimp (frozen, thawed); 1 cup cubed bamboo shoots and sliced water chestnuts, each; 4 small bananas; 2 tbsps. butter; fried egg strips; soya sauce to taste.

Heat oil in skillet, add garlic and rice and saute until golden brown; now wash green onions with tops and cut into strips 2 inches long; put these aside for later. When rice is light brown, remove excess oil and add broth and shrimp, cooked diced ham, ginger, bamboo shoots and water chestnuts. Pour in just enough soya sauce to flavor lightly. Stir together, bring to a quick boil, then reduce and cover. Steam by simmering until rice is flaky and shrimp cooked through. Add green onion strips just towards end so as to retain bright green color. Meanwhile cut bananas lengthwise in half. Saute in butter until lightly browned. Spoon the rice and shrimp mixture onto hot platter. Top with fried egg strips and arrange bananas around edge. A truly magnificent dish. (From Phyllis Jervey's "A World of Parties".)

MALAYSIA

"Without rice, nothing will succeed," according to a Malayan proverb. In the Federated States of Malaya, Kuala Lumpur is where the Johnsons will stop. Perhaps they will be served a curry as delicious as the following:

Get your pin-up girl a dryer

Your pin-up girl is that someone near and dear who still pins up the wash. Who each year lugs about two tons of wet wash, hikes 40 miles to and from the clothesline and pins and unpins about 10,000 clothespins. And who'd dearly love a dryer.

A dryer would let her forget the hang of it. She could fluff-dry, damp-dry — remove the wrinkles from permanent press clothes — in any weather, night or day. So give her a break from backache: see your appliance dealer today and get your pin-up girl a dryer.

MALAY CHICKEN CURRY WITH RICE

(Serves 6)

Five lb. chicken, cut up; oil; ¼ cup fresh curry powder; ½ tsp. powdered ginger; 1 tbsp. arrowroot; 2 cups chicken broth; 1 cup sliced dried mushrooms, previously soaked; ½ cup onions, sliced thin; just soaked currants; grated coconut; flaky rice.

Brown cut up chicken in oil; pour off excess oil and add seasonings and arrowroot gradually to broth, pour this mixture over chicken. Add mushrooms and onions, cover and simmer until chicken is cooked through. Add more chicken broth made from neck, giblets, backs and wings (or canned broth). When ready to serve from heated platter, top with drained currants and grated coconut (which comes canned or frozen). Surround platter with fluffy white rice. Serve mangosteens for dessert. This is the queen of Asian fruits, a cross between strawberries and peaches with cream, mysteriously compounded. Here at home, combine strawberries with peaches and cream—pretend they are mangosteens!

KOREA

In the countryside of Korea, the fox is recognized as the God of Rice. It is he who is said to have carried the first seed on his tongue from Korea to Japan. In Seoul, one of the most popular dishes with natives and Americans is the simple combination of rice and beans.

PAH JOOK, SEOUL STYLE

(Serves 6)

One cup kidney type beans; 1 cup raw rice; 1 clove garlic, 1 onion, chopped; sesame oil; salt to taste; consomme; dumplings.

Soak beans overnight, then drain and simmer in fresh water, with salt added during last half hour; cook until beans are soft enough to mash through a colander. This puree is then fried in sesame oil. The rice is cooked until tender and dry. The bean puree and the rice are mixed together with a little beef stock or diluted canned consomme. This is served very hot with tiny dumplings made (in the U.S.A.) from packaged biscuit mix.

VIET NAM

We close with a sample from Saigon, the reason for this remarkable tour. With Jasmin tea, these delicate flower cakes are a way to say "friendship and peace for all."

SAIGON FLOWER CAKES

One cup flour; ½ tsp. salt; 2 tbsps. sugar; 1 tsp. baking powder; 1/3 cup water; coconut; parsley and celery leaves; 3 tbsps. oil.

Mix flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Add enough water to make a stiff dough and roll it to an 1/8 inch thickness. Cut in circles 1½ inches in diameter. Decorate each circle with bits of coconut shreds, or other fruit, and parsley or celery leaves pressed flat in the dough. Fry on both sides in small amount of oil. Drain on brown paper. (From U. S. LADY Magazine's "Menus of the Month," whose Party Editor is also the author of "Party Plans".)

READING WAS TOPIC OF MIDDLE SCHOOL PARENTS' MEETING

The Carmel Middle School Parent-Faculty Club met Tuesday evening in the Stuart Mitchell Library at the school to hear again from the "Reading Team," under the direction of Jo Brazell. So successful was a similar event last year that parents and members of the club's board asked the team to repeat its program.

The instructors involved demonstrated the techniques used to help encourage readers at all levels, explain the results of last year's program and demonstrate mechanical devices employed in the reading laboratories (always a fascinating challenge to parents).

At the end of the evening, a group of students in the junior great books program held an informal discussion to demonstrate what they are learning and exactly what they do in the classroom.

RADIO PROGRAM

"Getting Along with Others in Business" is the title of this Sunday's radio program on the Christian Science series "The Bible Speaks to You." It will be heard over station KGO at 7:30 a.m. and will discuss how turning to God and the biblical teachings helps one improve his business relationships.

To Visit Hospitals In South America

Thomas E. Tonkin, administrator of Community Hospital, has been awarded a 1966 Walker Fellowship to study hospital care and its related economic and political factors in South America.

During the month of November he will tour hospitals and medical facilities in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia and Peru following the International Hospital Federation meeting at Bogota, Colombia, November 1-4.

The Fellowship is provided by the educational and research trust of the California Hospital Association. An annual grant, set up by George R. Walker of Los Angeles in 1964 to exchange ideas with foreign hospital leaders, it is a program for professional development of those persons who have demonstrated qualities of leadership in the hospital field, according to Mark Berke, president of the California Hospital Association. Mr. Tonkin was one of two California hospital administrators selected for the fellowship by the association.

Mr. Tonkin is a member of the committee on hospital design and construction of both the California and American hospital associations. He will be studying important new trends in hospital architecture in these five countries. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Tonkin.

Arrangements for the itinerary are being coordinated with the assistance of the American Hospital Association, the Pan American Union and the International Hospital Federation.

CANNY COUNSEL by Sagacious Sal

Send your problems to Sagacious Sal! However, her counsel is based on handwriting analysis as well as psychological theory. Therefore, all letters must be in handwriting. Address your letters to Sagacious Sal, Carmel Pine Cone, Box G-1, Carmel.

Dear Sal,

My wife won't make up her mind about anything! I have to make all the decisions. And it gets monotonous. What can I do to stimulate her to think for herself. W.P.

Dear W.P.,

Your wife has no trouble making up her mind! Her desire is to please and spoil you. She does not crave leadership. She is content to follow along, as shown in her handwriting sample.

You, too, show evidence of a cooperative, rather than an independent nature. I would venture to guess that both you and your wife were products of being the "middle child" in a family, and hence used to being lead by older brothers and sisters.

Maybe you could set aside two days a week where your wife has to make all the decisions herself —and see how it works out.

Dear Sal,

Before we got married, me and my husband got along very well. Now, all we do is fight about everything. Can you help. Enclosed is the handwriting of my husband and myself.

A.S.

Dear A.S.,

As so many couples do—they save all the arguments for after the marriage. Many people are afraid to form an honest friendship where each person will get to know the other as he or she really is.

Of some encouragement to you —one of the quickest methods of achieving a deep, mature relationship is through "ego-clashes" or fights. Every time you disagree, if sensibly talked out to a conclusion, you both gain more insight into each other. And you develop a perceptive understanding of how important different issues are to each of you.

But vary these fights with moments of laughter!

Miss Williston

Agnes L. Williston, 96, a Carmel resident for more than 26 years, died October 13 in the Oakland retirement home where she had lived since 1953.

A New Englander until she came to Carmel in the late 1920s, Miss Williston was an early graduate of Smith College in Massachusetts. Like many of her forebears, she maintained a lifelong interest in philanthropic and scholarly affairs. She was a devoted church member, also an accomplished musician, and for a time served as organist in the Church of the Wayfarer here.

Miss Williston was the sister of the late Mrs. Jesse D. Burks of Palo Alto and Charles S. Williston of Chicago. She is survived by three nieces, Mrs. Judith Small of Oakland, Mrs. Frank Newman of Orinda and Helen Williston of Milwaukee; and two nephews, Pierce Williston of Kansas City and C. Stoddard Williston of Milwaukee.

Memorial services for Miss Williston were held at the Beulah Home in Oakland.

OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY

A "Back at the Ranch" committee has planned the annual Open House at the University of California, Santa Cruz, on Sunday. The public is invited to visit the campus between noon and 4 p.m., according to Howard B. Shontz, committee chairman.

50 Years Ago in Carmel

—THIS WEEK—

COMMUNITY NAMES CANDIDATES

An enthusiastic multitude of men and women crowded into Carmel Hall last night in response to a call for a mass meeting to nominate candidates for various city offices if the incorporation vote is successful next week—and it will be.

Perry Newberry explained the purpose of the gathering then opened nominations for a chairman. Bill Overstreet nominated George F. Beardsley. There were no other nominations so Beardsley took the chair with Charlie Goold as secretary.

The chairman answered many questions regarding the incorporation scheme. It was clearly stated that the neck of land known as the south end of the peninsula (Carmel Point) was not being included in the incorporation because it is the general belief that, if it were, the opponents of incorporation would have seized this fact upon which to base objections.

Twenty-one candidates were nominated for city trustees. Then the ten receiving the highest vote from the people at the meeting were put up as candidates to be voted upon on October 26 along with the incorporation question. Two candidates for the position of city clerk and city treasurer were also nominated. The candidates are:

Trustees—A. P. Fraser, G. F. Beardsley, Peter Taylor, W. T. Kibbler, Mrs. E. Hand, Miss E. Harrington, M. J. Murphy, Perry Newberry, Miss M. De Neale Morgan, D. W. W. Johnson.

City Clerk—J. W. Hand, H. P. Larouette.

City Treasurer—L. S. Slevin, J. E. Beck.

Voters may also write in any candidate they desire.

VOTE FOR INCORPORATION

Mechanics and tradespeople should vote solidly for incorporation. They have much to gain thereby.

RED CROSS ORPHAN

The San Francisco committee of the Fatherless Children of France has assigned to the Carmel Red Cross chapter a little girl of three, Marcelle LaMoulle.

Local Red Cross headquarters are now ready and materials for distribution may be had on application.

FOR TREASURER

L. S. Slevin, Safe, Sane, Conservative.

VOTE, VOTE, VOTE

A vote for incorporation is a vote for a better town to live in.

MARINE SOLD

A marine by William Ritschel has been purchased by the Museum Association of Sacramento. The canvas will hang in the Crocker Art Gallery. It is the nucleus for a gallery of the works of modern painters. The painting is 50 by 60 inches, valued at $3,000 and shows the elemental grandeur of the coast south of Carmel.

CLUB NOTES

At the meeting of the Young Men's Club, two letters from Herbert Hand were read. He is the captain's orderly on the "Pittsburgh" which is at Salina Cruz, Tehuantepec Bay, Mexico. Games and refreshments helped to round out a pleasant and profitable evening.

LIBRARY TO BUY LAND

Negotiations are pending for the purchase by the Carmel Library trustees of lots at the corner of Ocean and Monte Verde. The library may eventually be located there.

NOTICE

As I desire to be in a position to take public contracts under incorporation, I here give notice I will not be a candidate for City Trustee. I wish to express my appreciation for support given me. Signed, C. O. Goold.

VICTROLA SOCIAL

Tomorrow afternoon at the beautiful home of the Hilliards in the Eighty Acre Tract, a social affair is to be held in aid of the Sunset School Victrola Fund. A considerable amount is still due on the Machine which is now in use at the school. Come and help the good cause along.

MUSIC SCHOOL

Mrs. Mabel G. Young plans to open a studio of music in her cottage on Lincoln Street. As a pupil of some of the foremost teachers in Leipzig, Berlin and Milan, Mrs. Young's entrance into the professional field will be a decided addition to Carmel's musical colony.

WHAT'S DOING?
A recent porpoise-to-porpoise long distance telephone call combined communications technology with marine biology. Participants in the conversation were "Speedy," a trained porpoise at Marineland of the Pacific and "Splash," his counterpart at Marineland of Florida. The two porpoises squeaked, chirped and whistled to each other over the 2,500 miles of telephone lines that separated them. Each listened intently to the other, with only occasional interruptions. Fortunately, a porpoise is a mammal, so no one can accuse me of telling a fish story.
48 years ago this month, the World Series baseball games were first broadcast on radio—from New York's Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds. Then, as now, the broadcasts traveled from the ballpark to the radio station over telephone lines.
When you're going out for the evening, here are a few suggestions that may help both you and the babysitter relax. Write down the names of the places you're going, the phone numbers, and the approximate times you'll be there. Have emergency numbers, including the family doctor's, written down also. Then—having taken these precautions, a night out can be more pleasurable.
Mark the date—November 8. (That's just an early reminder that voting day's not too far away.)
When moving, call your Pacific Telephone Carmel Service Representative, 375-1511, to arrange for telephone service at your distant location. She can also arrange to have callers on your existing number referred to your new location for a reasonable length of time. Call her at our Business Office and she'll handle all the arrangements, whether you're moving across town or across the country. Hope our Easy Move Plan really does help make your move a little easier.

REPORTS FROM R.L.S

by Chandler Meloy

SPORTS A TRADITION AT STEVENSON SCHOOL

Headmaster Robert Ricklefs, who had enough fast balls, curves and sinkers to pitch in semi-pro baseball, has always believed in a strong and varied athletic program at Robert Louis Stevenson School. Some 16 separate sports are offered during the school year, plus lesser sports, like sailing and hiking, during the summer session. Every boy at Stevenson is enrolled in a sports program, with a majority active during the 3:30-5 p.m. "team period." Saturday and Sunday workouts, and early morning swim sessions (6:00-7:00 a.m.), are also included for most varsity teams.

Last year was the most successful sports year in RLS history, ending up with three league championships and a winning record for all but two teams. Under the direction of Richard Zury, who is also president of the Coast Athletic Association (CAA), the Fall program is off to a great start with all teams posting strong records. Besides the CAA, RLS belongs to the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and is affiliated with the Independent Schools of California.

SOCCER—Under the direction of head coach David Wilson, and with the help of newcomer Vincente Bravo of Ecuador, the soccer team has posted wins over York, Menlo, Monterey United (pick-up teams of post-high school and service men in the Monterey region), Mora and Monte Vista. They have one loss to York and a tie with San Jose State College (JV's) in a game played under the lights just last Monday. The coaching staff has special praise for goalie Dave Basham, forward Pat Ruber, Larry Kuechler, Bill Hand and John Englander. Standouts on defense have included Kim Wang, Taylor Grant, Pete Funsten and Bruce Hartzell. JV's of special note include stair forward Hok Yin Leung and Tom McCarry, Scott Bullen, Smith Dungan, Derek Cotchett and Dan Giustina. There is also a lightweight team of 8th and 9th graders who have a small schedule this year.

WATER POLO—a three-man staff, headed by Jim Stam, directs the second year of water polo at RLS. Direct team coaching is supervised by Varsity coach Dick Avila, while Bob Peterson is the "morning man" who conducts 6 a.m. time-workouts and gives exercises during the day. A strong 16-5 victory over Bellamine Prep of San Jose, one of the powers in Northern California, has highlighted the season for RLS. Also wins over Live Oak and Sunnyvale have been posted this year. Jim Merritt (a top veteran) has been a standout on offense, with backup by John Urist, Jim Booth and Bruce Wileman. Jeff H. Smith has been strong on defense. Peter Henderson, Pete Cowden and David Inks, have been strong performers in the JV's.

CROSS COUNTRY — Coach Chandler Meloy has the largest turnout in the school's history, as some 22 boys have risen to the challenge of defending the CAA league championship. The varsity has posted three wins to date, having defeated Menlo, Monte Vista and Mora, while the JV's have taken a loss from York. Veteran Don Hicok and Claude Wynn have been the steadiest runners in the early season, with great races by George Dyer, Mark Farber and newcomer Mark Stevenson. Consistent points have been scored by Al Solon, with great potential being shown by Wes Clark, Ken Drummond and George Saviers. The team has ten more runs this season, including the San Rafael Invitational, on November 5.

RIDING—While not a team competition sport, some 11 boys are in the riding program, under the direction of Norman Ellis and the Costello family. One of the great riders in RLS history, Mason Phelps, has already shown Olympic potential, and just two weeks ago, took 4th at the Genessee, New York, riding tournament. He placed first in stadium jumping and dressage, but lost points on the cross country, as he had just alighted from the plane in time to get on the horse (one he'd never ridden) and off to the race. The team will have a demonstration in November, open to the public.

OTHER SPORTS—As the year goes on, additional reports will be made of the sports program at Stevenson. This spring there will be strong teams in golf, tennis, basketball, track and baseball, with early reports showing an outstanding rifle team being formed. Swimming, also, will have a major emphasis as the defending Far West Prep Champs will host a second swim meet in March.

For the well rounded student, sports at Stevenson are a way of life, and victory—a tradition.

Honor Awarded To Professor Dawson

Professor John E. Dawson of Pebble Beach, above, who joined the faculty of the Naval Postgraduate School this summer, has been honored by the Meritorious Award for Exemplary Achievement in Public Administration.

The award was made in recognition of his service this past year in developing, installing, and refining a modern financial management system for the Bureau of Land Management of the U. S. Department of Interior. This award is from the William A. Jump Memorial Foundation, Washington, D. C., and is given each year to the one person nominated by each department or agency who has made special contributions to the efficiency and prestige of the public service.

At the Naval Postgraduate School, Professor Dawson will teach public budgeting and the planning - programming - budgeting system for non-defense government agencies in the school's Navy Management Systems Center.

Dawson resides with his wife Mary at 2826 Congress Road, Pebble Beach.

Arthur Dahl Heads Bach Festival Board

Arthur Dahl of Pebble Beach was elected president of the Carmel Bach Festival at a meeting of the board of directors earlier this month at the festival office at Sunset Center.

Mr. Dahl, who succeeded Ted Durein, has served for several years as vice president of the board. Chosen to serve with him were Mrs. Frances W. Dowdell, Mrs. McCormac Bunting and Mrs. Vera Lehmann, first, second and third vice presidents, respectively; Brooks Clement, treasurer; Francis P. (Skip) Lloyd, secretary.

Re-elected to the board for three-year terms were Mrs. Bunting, John Castello, Mr. Clement, Mrs. Walter A. de Martini, Peter J. Ferrante and Mrs. Leonard Klene. New members of the board are George Faul, president of Monterey Peninsula College, and Ray Kendall, who fills a vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. Nancy Ness Bowman.

Altman To Play In Renaissance Festival

Antiphonal music by use of divided choirs surrounding the audience, will be one of the special features of the Fall Festival of Renaissance Music to be performed by the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society at the First Methodist Church in Pacific Grove on the weekend of November 5 and 6. This unique musical event will bring to the Peninsula the sounds and ancient physical settings the citizens of Venice enjoyed in the magnificent Cathedral of San Marco.

John Gosling, music director of the choral society, and James Demetry, festival chairman, met last week in San Francisco with guest artists Ludwig Altman and Robert Commanday to make final plans for this first annual festival.

The music of Andrea and Giovanni Gabrieli, Hassler, Monteverdi, Schutz, Sweelinck, Banchieri, and Merulo will be highlighted, with the 90-voice chorus divided into two, three, and four choirs, and similarly arranged brass choirs. Saturday evening's concert will open with the moving "Messa degli Apostoli," by Frescobaldi, played by Mr. Altman; another feature of the evening will be the American premiere of Andrea Gabrieli's "Aria della Battaglia" for brass choir.

Tickets are available at the Jewel Box in Carmel and the Thunderbird Book Store in Carmel Valley. Tickets also can be obtained by writing the Choral Society, Post Office Box 272, Carmel.

What's Going on Here?

BY B. ROWE

THE CARMEL FOUNDATION
8th and Lincoln

Wednesday afternoon Program—on Wednesday at 3 p.m. Mrs. Margaret White will present a lecture on "Importance of Proper Nutrition."

TOURS—SHOPPING TRIP . . . On November 4, a shopping trip to San Francisco is scheduled. Bus leaves the Foundation office at 8 a.m.

The art exhibit now showing at the Foundation is the work of Mrs. Freda Fisher.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR

In November, the residents of the Manor will hold an art auction. Any hand-crafted object of artistic (or culinary) merit is welcome. Mrs. Fisher is now receiving these art pieces.

A gift to the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History was recently made by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott of Carmel Valley Manor. It consisted of a collection of more than 150 books on ornithology. These include, in addition to the better known textbooks dealing with birds of all parts of the world, rare and out-of-print collectors' items which are now virtually unobtainable elsewhere.

CANTERBURY WOODS
Pacific Grove

THE BUSY FINGERS GROUP . . . under the chairmanship of Mrs. Joetta Weston, this group of ladies has made 118 ditty bags (for hold ing toothbrush, comb etc.) for our boys in Viet Nam. The Red Cross will distribute these useful items at Christmastime.

A Canterbury Woods Medical Center Auxiliary, composed of volunteers from the surrounding areas, has been formed. Members will assist the nurses in the Medical Unit.

HACIENDA CARMEL
Carmel Valley

Hal Wright, publicity director for recreational activities at the Manor, sends us word of the Men's Annual Lawn Bowling Tournament. This contest started Monday and runs until tomorrow. A trophy will be given to the lucky winner with his name inscribed thereon.

Someone suggested that they invite the ladies to join the group—a joker in the crowd came up with the remark "If we do—the ladies will have to give us a handicap."

FOREST HILL MANOR
Pacific Grove

WELCOME BACK! WANDERING RESIDENTS RETURN . . . Many residents are returning from vacations. Those recently back are Mrs. Doty—from an extended European trip. Mrs. Gerlach—after enjoying the spectacular Fall coloring in Nature's Wonderland of New Hampshire and Maine. Mrs. Dunning—bringing along some of those delicious apples from the Pacific Northwest—Seattle and Spokane. Dr. Perry and Miss Tillman from a glorious trip to our 49th State, Alaska. Miss Fitch—from New England where she had a reunion with relatives.

PINPOINT PROFILE
Paul R. Josselyn

The year 1910 proved to be a most important one in the life of Paul R. Josselyn. His studies had always been pointed in one direction—foreign service. So it was that after much training he was appointed to the legation in Peking, China.

Born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, educated in Beloit College, Beloit, Wisconsin, and George Washington University, Washington, D. C. he was appointed by President William Howard Taft to his first post. It was in Peking that he met his wife, Jean, who was teaching at one of the schools for American children there. One year after his arrival in China a Revolution took place. The country became a republic—that is, it became a republic in name but scarcely in reality. Change was slow in coming—although they did put up a president—his name was Sun Yat-Sen, known as the George Washington of the Chinese Republic. Sun Yat-Sen only served a short time, later resigning in favor of Yuan Shihkai.

During the next 38 years, Mrs. Josselyn worked and travelled to many other cities, including Canton and Shanghai of the new republic. Under this system China remained slow to adopt modern ideas, and, as Mr. Josselyn said, "Peking was in many ways similar to the medieval cities of long ago. For instance, the common people still used flint and steel to light their pipes. There was very little electricity."

Mrs. Josselyn passed on in 1965. Their children are scattered in far away places. One daughter and her family live in Bombay, India. A son is associated with a national van and storage firm in Los Angeles. Another daughter and her husband, who is in the foreign service, live in Canberra, Australia.

While living in Peking, Mr. Josselyn diligently studied the Mandarin Chinese dialect for two years and was able to master this difficult language. His last post brought him to Singapore, Malaysia, where he served as consul general before retiring in 1948.

According to Mr. Josselyn, the Chinese were great ancestor worshippers. One proverb which he quoted was this—"If you don't have children, how can you expect to have descendants to burn incense at your grave?"

Tsai chien!

(Mandarin Chinese for Goodbye).

Arts Conference Here Next Week

There will be a regional conference on the arts on October 28 at the Monterey County Fairgrounds, co-sponsored by the California Arts Commission and the Arts Coordinating Council of Monterey County.

An all-day program dealing with arts council organization, performing arts, cultural building projects, audience development, ticket sales and fund raising will be offered by the staff of the California Arts Commission and its special consultants. This program is open to interested persons in the area.

The conference will begin at 10:15 a.m. with an opening address by California Arts Commissioner Senator Fred S. Farr, and continue with talks and workshops till 4 p.m.

The conference is being held the day before the Arts and Crafts Festival at the Fairgrounds which opens on October 29.

Discussions On Life In Carmel

Craig, fromer councilman and planning commissioner. Harry Downie, restorer of Carmel Mission is the historian for this program.

Gifts and bequests to the city will be the basis of a panel discussion led by John Morse, a former city attorney, and include Fred Duhring, city treasurer and head of the Harrison Memorial Library board, and Geza St. Galy, chairman of the city's arts commission.

Councilman Herbert Blanks, a former Carmel mayor who has a degree in forestry, will describe Carmel's battle to preserve its trees and City Attorney William Burleigh will outline the city's fight for clean air. He led the legal battle against Humble Oil.

Carmel's famed Forest Theater will be the subject of a panel moderated by Herbert Heron, founder of the municipal outdoor theatre in 1910 and a former mayor of the city. Ronald Bostwick, Ferdinand Burgdorff and Charles Thoams will participate in this program.

Carmel's appeal to photographers will be discussed in a panel with Cole Weston, a photographer and the son of Edward Weston, one of this country's most famous camera artists, with Wynn Bullock and Rosario Mazzeo participating. Films will be shown on this occasion.

The art life of Carmel will be presented by John Cunningham director of the Carmel Art Institute. Artists will be on two panels on this phase of Carmel, also display their work.

The little theatre in Carmel through the years will be related by Arts Commissioner Barbara Norberg with the help of Byington Ford, Marie Gordon, Gabrielle Kuster and Ruth Marion McElroy.

Robert Stanton, president of the Monterey History and Art Association and the Monterey Peninsula Museum Association, who is an architect, will talk about architectural styles in the Carmel area.

The story of writers who have lived in Carmel will be developed in a panel discussion by Martin Flavin and Mona Williams under Adela Rogers St. John as moderator.

Psychiatrist Dr. Eric Berne, author of "Games People Play," the book on transactional analysis, which has stayed at the top of the nation's bestseller list for over a year, will talk about why famous persons are attracted to settle in Carmel. Dudley Swim and Bishop W. F. Ziegler, retired Episcopal Bishop of Wyoming will be on the panel on this subject. All persons participating are listed in "Who's Who in America" and live in this area.

The place of the crafts and craftsmen in the life of Carmel will be delineated by Joseph Danysh, a Carmel art commissioner and former head of the California School of Arts and Crafts. Marion Brueck and Joni Clayton will be panelists.

The Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas will be moderator for a panel discussion on music in Carmel through the years. Panelists will be John Gosling, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra; Judge Eugene Harrah, former president of the county symphony association; Francis P. (Skip) Lloyd, member of the Bach Festival board; and Elayne Chanslor, Carmel musician and composer.

Scientific research accomplished in Carmel will be another subject for a discussion led by Dr. Ferdinand Haasis with Dr. R. A. Kocher and Laidlaw Williams as panelists.

The dates, times and location of all these discussions are included in the golden anniversary schedule of events published in this issue of the Pine Cone.

Carmel Realtors To Install Officers

The Carmel Board of Realtors will hold its annual installation of officers dinner on Wednesday at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Outgoing President George Conn will hand over the gavel to the incoming president Jack Martin. Other officers to be installed are Charles McEwen, vice president; Betty Oenning, secretary-treasurer; and Derek Lawford, salesman director. Carry-over directors who will remain in office are Skip Marquard, Art Strasburger and Wes Ball.

A no-host cocktail hour will precede the dinner-dance to be held at 7:30.

Three Free Concerts

With Flutist Raymond Fabrizio, the Beyer Trio will present the Quartet in D Minor, Opus 56, No. 2, by Franz Danzi, a late 18th century composer. Following this, the Beyer ensemble will play the Trio in D Minor, Opus 141-B, by Max Reger, who emerged as a composer a century after Danzi. With Pianist Wade Parks, the Beyer group will perform the Quartet in E Flat Major by Robert Schuman.

JUST LISTED! Ocean view lot on San Antonio. $25,000.

WE'VE GOT A SECRET! There is a very good home on the market in a top location, on an oversized lot. There are 3 bedrooms, (1 delightfully large), 2 baths, open beam living room, and sunny kitchen and patio. It's on the market for $47,500. This doesn't tell you much about this lovely home and the owner asks that we give no phone information, but we'd be delighted to show it to you by appointment.

SAUNA BATH ANYONE? One goes with this newish family home in a quiet and convenient Carmel area. You also get 3 nice bedrooms, 2 tiled baths, and open beamed living room, a sparkling kitchen and family-dining room. Central heat, of course. The corner location affords sunny patio space for BBQs and children's play. Only $31,500 for this and you'd better see it!

ONLY 3 LEVEL BLOCKS from, and south of Ocean we have a very comfortable, well built home to show you. There are 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, living room with corner fireplace (a peek at the ocean too!), panelled dining room and kitchen. Central heat for comfort. The yard is attractively landscaped and easy to care for. Ideal location and only $41,500.

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

Now that practically every expert agrees that the stock market will probably go lower, stocks start going up.

Remember when the Dow Jones Industrial Average was just sure to go through 1,000? Maybe the experts are as wrong now when the average is at 800 as they were then.

All this confusion is enough to make a long term investor out of some of the traders who have cash now and were fully invested at the top. You know, long term investors only have to make one decision; which blue chip would I like to own? Traders have to make two more decisions: when to sell and when to buy back again. The peaceful way is to accumulate top quality stocks in growing fields and buy a few more shares when they dip. Trading is for those who like excitement. Incidentally several stock services changed their position and advised traders to put part of their cash back into stocks this week.

One of my friends wanted to bet me that in October next year skirts will be down and stocks up. Hope he's half right because I'm for short skirts. If this flirtation with Russia should lead to peace in Viet Nam—and if Russia decides to buy some of the 100 items the President added last week to items the government would let American companies sell Russia—a great new bull market might start.

The recent activity of China's "Red Guards" reminded Europeans of Hitler's Fascists and sent chills down their spines. Sidney B. Lurie in the October 15 Forbes said "In other words, rather than face a seemingly endless war, it could be that the war in Viet Nam will be over by Christmas or Easter. And there is nothing more bullish than peace, for it would eliminate the strains which have overheated our economy." Add this possibility of peace, plus the Federal Reserve's talk of curbing high interest rates, plus the estimated $1 billion the Mutual Funds could recommit to stocks and you have the ingredients for a rising stock market, I hope.

Virginia Freed

Private services for Mrs. Virginia Freed, a resident of Carmel for some 15 years, were held Tuesday at the Church of the Wayfarer, with the Reverend Karel Vit officiating. Although in ill health, her death at her home on Tuesday was unexpected and the cause is to be determined by autopsy.

A native of Pomona, Mrs. Freed attended Mills College and was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley. She was known and appreciated as a sensitive writer of poetry. She was a member of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association (AFA) and Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club.

Mrs. Freed leaves her mother, Mrs. Harold C. Dewey of Pomona; a sister, Mrs. Robert Beloud, and a niece, Virginia Lee Beloud, of Cucamonga.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge or arrangements.

AUTHOR TO SPEAK

Nelo Drizari, Carmel author and painter, will speak on "Viet Nam and the Voice of America" at a luncheon meeting of the Soroptimist Club of the Monterey Peninsula on Tuesday at the Casa Munras.

NEW VALLEY SAFEWAY STORE

Planners Consider 1970 Census Tracts

Whether or not Carmel should confine its 1970 census tract to the city limits or include unincorporated environs was discussed by Carmel planning commissioners following an outline of the tract system by Commissioner William H. Godwin Jr. yesterday afternoon.

Census tracts are voluntary counting divisions proposed by the federal government to evaluate population and types of environment.

They are limited to areas with a minimum population of 2,500 persons, or an average 4,000 or a maximum of 8,000. Mr. Godwin advocated consideration of including outside areas in the Carmel tract in view of possible future annexation of some of these unincorporated sections to the city.

The commission thought it advisable that members of the city council attend a meeting on this matter on October 27 in Colton Hall, as well as Mr. Godwin.

DUCK SEASON OPENS

Carmel duck hunters will be off to their blinds in time for the opening of the waterfowl season Saturday.
